Why Moms and Why Everyone?

Everybody on earth comes through birth and birth is given by women. If you exist, you have/had a mom. And if you're a woman, you'll most likely are or will become one.

Various studies aside, it's clear that moms need support in many ways. They like any other human beings have their interests and hobbies, personal and professional life aspirations, dreams and goals. After becoming a mom of one two three or more children, a woman has so much workload in life that without support from workplaces, families and societies in general, they hardly exist, from task to task. Their mental and physical conditions worsen, their productivity decreases and their dreams slowly fade away.

You see it through your mom's story, through your own story, through your friend's story, through your colleague's story or a neighbor's story. If you look around, you surely can see it.

Try to consciously and mindfully observe what a mom's day looks like, ask her to tell you her story, ask her what she would do if anything was possible and what you hear sometimes can change your day or even your life. Each and every mom wants and is capable of doing so much more not only for herself but also for others, as her nature is to care more and care better.

Most moms don't speak out and don't reach out because most of their time and energy is spent on their families and jobs. Their voices are less heard. Societies can initiate their inclusion and support their well-being. We need to knock at their doors and listen to what it is that they have to say.

You can contribute to moms' well-being while enjoying the process of impact-making. Your values change, your network grows and remember that moms give back!

Have a few hours a month? That will do too!

The GlobalMoms Initiative, or GMI, is a nonprofit and voluntary Initiative of moms from all over the world. The objective of GMI is to support every mom as she strives to achieve physical and mental wellbeing, as well as financial independence. Furthermore, GMI will work to link globalmoms with the social, professional and financial resources they are seeking while providing ongoing assistance and encouragement.

GMI aims to reach and support moms who are underserved or underrepresented, such as moms of children with disabilities, full-time moms in crisis, juggling working moms, struggling mom entrepreneurs at their -1 to 1 business stages, regardless of age, geography, nationality, social status or so.

GMI, a safe space for every volunteer.

GMI reaches and empowers the target moms through two projects:

1. The #MomStory100 Project - See the world through her story

The #MomStory100 Project, it relies on volunteers, who are story lovers, to find, link, or interview moms, and also we encourage every mom writing for herself, through her own narrative to identify real needs and barriers for individual development. For every momstory, we stick to "no revision" publishing principle, to demonstrate GMI's unconditional acceptance and support to moms, see and appreciate every mom as who they are. Besides, the stories will contribute to #MomQActionResearch.

GMI #MomStory100 Project can retain an unlimited number of story writers and interviewers or editors at the same time, as we have so many target interviewees;

2. The #MomCEO100 Club - Not a complainer but a maker

Another project is the #MomCEO100 and Women Entrepreneurs Club, which aims to link key educational and developmental resources such as knowledge and skills, technology, talent, funding and social networks that entrepreneurs need to realize its new business plan from 0-1, the #MomStory100 Project also supports MomCEOs to develop their own narrative and story for demonstrating their social entrepreneurship.

GMI is looking for City Chapter Leads, short-term and long-term volunteers.

Here's what we can offer:

- Constant support from the Leadership Team.
- Valuable skills that come with the sense of purpose and community.
- Connections with new friends and the value driven global community.
- Possibility to career advancement.
- More fun and fulfillment into your life.
- Personal and professional growth.
- Peer and 121 mentorship.
- Article byline.
- Community recognition.
- Chance to elevate yourself and the whole community.
- GMI Global Network membership.
- Priority participation to GMI and partners' events.
- Annual letter of appreciation.
- Links to potential jobs and entrepreneurial opportunities and resources as in need.

Youth, moms, dads, all adults and the elderly, as long as you are committed to supporting moms through GMI projects.

GMI City Chapter Lead

While short-term and long-term volunteers are given shared authorities to carry out various activities, City Chapter Lead takes responsibility to lead, empower and support his/her community. City Chapter Leads will be generated from experienced changemakers, strategic partners and long-term volunteers of GMI.

Roles and Responsibilities

If you're willing to become one, here's what your tasks includes but are not limited to:

- Recruit new volunteers on a constant basis and delegate authorities between the City Chapter volunteers team to make sure interviews with moms are being conducted, stories are being written and mom startup community is growing.
- Create a community of moms and female entrepreneurs.
- Be there to provide support to both team and community members.
 - Organize and coordinate online and/or offline events (not-for-profit and non-commercial) at least once a month, covering the two project areas: MomStory100 and MomCEO100.
 - Communicate with the Leadership Team to provide updates on the community needs and interests, as well as on their promptness to be engaged in more intense activities.

City Chapter Lead is offered:

- Support from GMI if and when needed.
- 121 mentorship with experienced chapter leads.
- Opportunity to elevate within GMI and towards the GMI Global Steering Committee.
- Participation in strategy planning and decision making processes.

Consent Form

When I decide to volunteer for moms in needs through GMI's social networks and platforms:

- 1.1 want to be supported and appreciated by others, in the same way I support and appreciate others, including fellow volunteers and community members;
- 2. When I commit to do some volunteering work, I treat it as my work and it is expected to be delivered on time based on mutual discussion and agreement. If any delay is inevitable, I will inform my fellow volunteer or team leads at least one day ahead;
- 3. Once I need extra support or meet challenges, I am willing to reach out to GMI community or speak to GMI's team leads or volunteer manager proactively;
- 4.1 can stop my volunteering work at any point with 3 days ahead of notice and confirmation with GMI's designated volunteer manager or team leads;
- 5. Any work or time I have contributed will be acknowledged properly in GMI, and the outputs will not be used for any commercial purpose;
- 6. I don't anticipate any financial compensation from any work I have done in GMI;
- 7.1 am expected to be an active team-worker and collaborator, and truly believe in fulfilling-ourselves-through-helping-others philosophy;
- 8. As far as I see necessary, I am willing to share relevant social resources with GMI while I build new positive social relationships through GMI;
- 9.1 agree that receiving support is another way of giving, and we give with sincerity.

Here I fully understand and support above statements.
